

23RD DUBBO JAZZ FESTIVAL

UKULELE WORKSHOP

This promises to be a unique, hands-on experience for ukulele lovers, or anyone who would like to have a go at playing this user-friendly instrument. This workshop offers a rare opportunity for participants to learn from master musicians from the Janet Seidel Trio & to share their talents on-stage with the Trio during the first half of their concert.

The workshop consists of two ninety-minute sessions led by Chuck Morgan of the Trio. The sessions are on 1pm Saturday and Sunday, and the workshop concludes with participation in the final concert of the Festival on Sunday afternoon. Enrolment is open to players of all ages [from 12 years plus] and all skill levels, from beginner to advanced.

ABOUT WORKSHOP LEADER CHUCK MORGAN

Chuck Morgan is one of Australia's most in demand guitarists, working with leading jazz musicians and acknowledged widely as a highly talented and versatile musician. Chuck was born in Auckland, New Zealand of Maori/European heritage. His father, Howard, taught him to play ukulele at 5 years old and later, guitar. At 9 years old, his musical education continued with his uncle, John Bradfield, a master guitarist who familiarised the young guitarist with European, South American, popular and jazz melodies. Chuck was guitarist with the Television New Zealand Orchestra and the Auckland Radio Orchestra before relocating from New Zealand to Sydney in 1986. He is currently a regular member of the touring and recording bands of Australian vocalist /pianist Janet Seidel and also Dan Barnett (Australian trombonist /vocalist). Chuck's Ukulele workshops are famous and sought after around the country.
